Cookies

We use a technology called "cookies" on the site. Cookies are pieces of information that are sent to your browser from a web server and stored on your computer's hard drive for record-keeping purposes. Cookies collect technical data and identify your operating system and session ID. Cookies are not linked to your Personal Information and do not identify anything personal about you. We collect and analyze traffic on our Sites by keeping track of the IP addresses of our visitors. IP addresses are unique numeric identifiers that are assigned to each computer browser accessing the Internet. An IP address, by itself, cannot identify you personally. However, when combined with other information provided by your Internet Service Provider (ISP) the I P address can be used to identify the computer originating a message. We do not use cookies in conjunction with emails. Information about our customers is an important part of our work; we will not sell, rent, swap or authorize any third party to use your e-mail address without your permission. This also applies to any information that personally identifies you. We reserve the right to disclose your personal information if we are required to do so by law.

Security

Unfortunately, no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. Therefore, while we follow accepted industry standards and implement reasonable security practices to protect Personal Information, we cannot guarantee its absolute security. When applicable, we use the latest SSL (Secure Socket Layer) encryption technology to protect sensitive personal or financial information during transmission. This allows your personal information to be submitted in a secure environment while reaching the intended parties. Links to Other Sites During your visit to our site, you may come across links that will take you to third-party Web sites. We are not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such other websites. Such links are provided for your convenience and reference only. Redirects to third-party sites do not constitute sponsorship, endorsement, or approval by TcEaglesRiders.com of the content, policies, or practices of such sites. Therefore, we encourage you to review the privacy policies of these sites before you disclose your personal information to these other parties.
